The wine opens with a bouquet of vanilla and sweet tobacco followed by aromas of chocolate cherries and raspberries. On the palate, the wine offers red fruit flavors such as Bing cherry, raspberry and blackberry. The wine has a nice balance of oak and acidity, that finishes with coco and more raspberry.

Vintage:

In general 2011 was a very cool year for Washington Grapes. The growing season started out cool and wet and stayed cool and wet for most of the year. Due to the cool weather, wines from 2011 tend to have more acidity and typically lower alcohol.
